The Herald's Havans correspondence of the $3d says: Three frightes of the Spanish North Pacific fleet, with Admiral Nunse commanding in person, and arrived at Santingo de Cuba. The causes given for this movement are conflicting. The most langoriant and probably the most reliable is that Admiral Nunse is en route for Washington to represent Spain in the peace congress proposed by Mr. Seward.

The steamer R. B. Cuyler was said to have been captured by the frighte Gueno, and advices from Hayt reported that Nessyo had assemed the reins of Government and all was quiet.

The Rinth of April. . To day is the anniversary of Lee's surrender, and it will be celebrated throughout the country with appropriate honors by the Army and Navy of the Union who wrought out this plorious consummation by a series of struggles and sacri-fices unparalleled in military annals. That surrender was the grand elimax of a four years' algentic war, and the Waterloo of the rebels, for ablic Lee maintained his chosen positions, and mindo secure the way and means of escape, and while the morale and unity of his troops remained unimpaired our Government and peo ple justly considered that the work of subjugalon was still unfinished, although a vast and plorious field had afready been wrested from the enemy's grasp by our victorious arms. The fate of Lee's army was sealed by the fall of Richmond, for while the Capital of the Confederacy remained proof against assault. Daris had still a stroughold and a refnge; he still possessed the forms and symbols I a civil government; he was ctill supported by what had proved one of the most potent of his auxiliaries, a service and unserupulous press, seconding every appeal, sanctioning every proverding, and firing the Southern heart to the anddess extremity of sacrifice, suffering, destitution and desperation. The conjunction therefore, of these two estistrophies, the destruction of the military power and the dissolution of the pseudo Confederate Government, erowned to completion our Federal triumplis, filled to the brim the humiliation of the rebelli on, and restored and established Peace and Union with Peace and Liberty with Union. The omens of a more protracted struggle on the part of a have proved fallacions. In spite of political dissensions on the question of reconstruction, we have no tangible evidence that the South has been nursing her weath and girding her strength for future conspiracies and revolution. In truth, however severe the pen-shies dealt out to treason, the insurrectionary States have been reduced to so languishing and exhausted a condition by their frightful waste of blood and treasure, that they now equally desire and demand repose and peace. Besides, the objects for which the South sought to sever the links of Union and erect an independent State have been consumed beneath the flery which of war.— Slavery, which she hoped to enjoy without the molestation of an adverse public opinion, and to fortify and exalt as the base and cap-stone of her State has been aboilshed by law, and to re-instate it would be as impossible as to re-store the "Original Thirmen" to colonial dependence on the British Crown. No wonder that so critical, so momentous a day should be especially dear to the Boys in Blue, should be made an occasion for haternal reunion, for marthat and paral reminiscences, for it signalized that they had not borne hardships and had not fought in vain. To them it was especially a day of jubilee, on which they rose from the flinty bed of war, not to confront hostlle and murderons cannou, but to turn with colors flying in triumph into the primrose paths of Peace, to cross again with joyous step the thresholds of Home. But the time is not far off when the Nation will adopt this holiday as its own like that which come orates our independence, for it is equally with the Fourth of July-of National significance and value, teaching the lesson that neither foreign nor civil war, aggression from without or treason from within, can rend our Union or queuch the spirit of American Liberty. Watnesses In Court. Of all unfortunate people in this world, none are more entitled to sympathy and commiseration than those whom circumstances oblige to appear upon the witness stand in Court. Here is a pleture, drawn by a cotemporary, and a very accurate one it is, of the pleasure of being a witness: "You are called to the stand and place your hand upon a copy of the Scriptures in elicepskin binding, with a cross on one side and none on the other, to accommodate either variety of that it was found iraposable to remove it so as the Christian faith. You are then arraigned be to allow the trains to run on time. at you blandly because you are on his side, the other eyeing you savagely for the opposite reason. The gentleman who smiles proceeds to pump you of all you know, and having squeezed all he wants out of you, decently hunds you over to the other, who proceeds to show you are entirely mistaken in your suppositions, that you have never seen anything you have sworn to; that you never saw the defendant in your life; in short, that you have committed direct perjury. He wants to know if you have ever been in Pithole. A large audience assembled, but the State prison, and takes your denial with the air speakers were non est. The rigilance committee of a mun who thinks you ought to have are in search of the unconscionable way. buen there. Asks you all the questions over again in different ways, and tells you with an awe-inspiring severity, to be careful what you say. He wants to know if he un-derstood you to say so, and wants to know whether you meant something else. Having bul-Hed and scared you out of your wits, and con-victed you in the eyes of the jury of prevaries tion, he lets you go. By and by everybody you have fallen out with is put on the star swear that you are the biggest scoundrel they ever knew, and not to be beleived under onth.— Then the opposing counsel, in summing up, paints your moral photograph to the jury, as a character fit to be handed down to time as the tells the jury if they believe your indicating that there is even a judicial doubt of your vernelty, and you go home to your wife and Lindly, neighbors and acquaintances, a sus-pected man, all because of your accidental pres-ence on an unfortunate occasion." Don't you wish you had been somewhere else, minding your own business?

THE IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING .- The Pitta burgh Gazette says; "In a brief interview with one of our most liberal patrons, a few days since we inquired his experience of the policy of advertising. We regard his answer as notoworthy, and commend it to the consideration of others He said the same kind of business in which he is engaged has been carried on at the same stand for ten years by one, and nearly three years by another predecessor. That these men gave dill-Cont attention to their business, were soher and rugal, but spont nothing for advertising. They were just barely able to eke out an existence That he bought out the concern ten years ago, and began a debter for the whole establishment. Mussus. Foote, Dans & Co., dealers in hardware and oil well supplies at Pioneer City, are having manufactured a wought iron, case hardened working barrel, which has been thoroughly ested for some months and proved to be of great value. Their orders for it are greatly in excess of the supply obtainable from the manufactory These are some of the points of their superior ity:

1. There being no preceptible wear on the inside of the barrel, thus allowing the same one b be used in a pumping well for years, 2. In case the barrel is dropped into the well it would sustain no injury, thus differing from a barrel made of brass, or entirely of east sleel or cast iron. 5. Another point of its advantage over those made all of east from is its limbiness, its five for memorics of camps and campaigns, marches and pheric air is mixed with the dame, causing a most perfect combustion of the free carbon eady, as will be seen by the list below, there are arising from the burning petroleum; in fact it may be said to be a perfect smoke consumer without the aid of steam. It consists of a shallow trough of iron which extends round the inside of the fire hox in the form of hollow square. In the contro of the trough are placed small tubes for the admission of air to the flame which is also fed on the inside by air passing up through the hollow space formed by the shape of the trough and on the outside by a space left there for that purpose. An oyal cap or dome, there for this purpose. An of sile cap or dome, similar to the ordhary burner used in oll lamps, covers the whole urrangement, and there is an oval aperture about eighteen inches long and four inches wide on the top of the dome through which the flame passes. Undernents the trough there is a box perforated with small holes and all the air which foods the flame passes through the suppression of the here and is divided up into jets, which, it is claimed, causes its more thorough intermixture with the flame. In order to test the value of the invention, we experimented with it so far as the sature of the circumstances would admit, and Institre of the circumstances would adult, and found that all though steamadmitted in small quantities increased the intensity of the share cities increased the intensity of the state of the cities the west of the cities there was no percuptible economy of heat with the same amount of oil. The only advandance of the cities tage being that a jet of steam would consume more oil without smoke than the ordinary deaft of air would do alone, thereby enabling the ongiveer to roise the gange in the boiler from forty to sixty pounds with astonishing rapidity but at to sixty pounds with assomening inputity out at a secrifice of extra fuel. When the steam is up to forty pounds, which is the ordinary pressure used in this boiler, there is little, if any, advan-Transportation by pipe:

From Princip to Transville.
From Bull Bun to Miller Farm. age gained by using eteam with the flame. The fire surface used in this experiment was very small, comparatively speaking, and the result was highly satisfactory. The economy of burn-lng crude petroleum is evident when there is a perfect combustion of smoke similar to that caus. ed by the above arrangement, as, theoretically peaking, one pound of petroleum will produce as much heat as ten pounds of cont. In fact, thi has been already demonstrated by experiment in the laboratory, and there is no reason why is should not be practically carried out in the above machine. With oil celling at two dollars per barrel and coal at ten dollars per ton, we would only require two hundred pounds or about two-thirds of a barrel of petroleum against 2,000 pounds of coal. But even supposng that it practically required one barrel of pe-roleum to produce the same amount of licat as one ton of coal, the present cost of using ! would be as five to one in favor of petroleum. Those desiring further information upon this subjuct may see the muchine in full operation at Gibbs, Wheeler & Russell's, or can apply to the owners of the patent, Messrs. Suhr, Jackson & Wrigley, at their office, Washington street.

Vindication of Pustmaster Pinkerton. Pioneru, Pa., April 8, 1867.

Editors Morning Herald : Having some time since retired from the field of newspaper correspondence, and resumed the name which was lawfully bestowed upon us when the holy man doused cold water upon our lufant caput it is somewhat painful to be again forced to call into requisition our jaw-dislocating appellation under the circumstances which call or the following:

We copy from the Petroleum Centre Era of

"ABSCONDED.—Postmaster Pinkerton, at Plo-neer, we learn, has absconded, taking with him quite a sum of other people's carmings—anying nothing about poor Uncle Samuel." Similar articles have also found their way into the Evening Journal and Venango Republican, probably all emanating from the same source ... If this slander was less gress or less widely cir-culated, a contemptuous silence would have been the proper course to be pursued by the nu-merous warm friends whom Mr. Pinkerton has left helded him, but we cannot allow such a wholesale slaughter of a gentleman's reputation, who, during a long acquaintence, has presented so many claims to our respect and esteem. We have carefully analyzed the grounds for the above allegations and find them entirely without foundation. Mr. Pinkerton's successo in the post office declares that his accounts were left in good order and are found perfectly correct, and we have failed to discover a single case of indebtedness for which he has not made ample and satisfactory provision. His numerous friends feel grieved and Indigand that these shaders should have been set affoat in his absence, and you will confer a favor by giving these few lines a place in your colmuna. Very truly yours, Cana Quins.

Oppion or the Moneton Pinneton, 2 Tirogville, April 6, 1867. The Petriceum market is irregular, though quiet and without any change from our previous quotations. The quiet state of the market to day was caused by the wide difference which saists between the views of the buyers and producers. The irregularity was mostly owing to several of the producers being forced to sell, either from being short of funds of to their tanks being crowded with all. There was but a very slight amount of later with all. to reveral of the producers being forced to sell, either from being short of funds of to their lanks being crowded with oil.
